

Getting Involved

Q: How can I get involved in Bron Afon Community Housing?

A: Community involvement lies at the heart of everything we do at Bron Afon.

It is important to us that you have your say in how we run our services and what happens in your community.

You can become a Member of Bron Afon and choose your level of involvement. You could attend meetings and forums, or take part in reviewing the services we provide, which means you can help us to improve what we do.

As a Member of Bron Afon, what you say will play an important part in decision-making and will affect how we manage tenants' homes and how we support communities. As a tenant, you will receive regular newsletters, have access to a devoted Membership page on our website and will be invited to training events and conferences.

Q: What choices are on offer?

A: The tables overleaf give more information about how you can get involved.

You can also check out our website at www.bronafon.org.uk.

Getting Involved

Membership of Bron Afon is open to all tenants and residents living in Torfaen.

There are many different ways in which you can get involved and influence how decisions are made by Bron Afon. We recognise that not everyone can serve on the Board or wishes to attend meetings but your views, opinion and ideas are still important to us. The diagram below shows how you can choose to get involved in playing a role in shaping the future of Bron Afon. The stars represent how much time/effort is needed to be involved:
